

Korea-China Economic Development Forum

Invitation Letter

Dear _____:

On the occasion of the 2025 APEC Summit in Korea, we are pleased to announce the 3rd Korea-China Economic Development Forum, jointly organized by Peking University (China), Kyonggi University (Korea), Aichi University (Japan), and other institutions. The forum will take place from October 23 to 26, 2025, in Jeju, Korea. We sincerely invite you to participate this academic forum.

The Korea-China Economic Development Forum is a high-level dialogue platform that brings together global elites from academia, industry, and government. It serves as a nexus for regional cooperation and global discourse. Against the backdrop of profound shifts in the international landscape and the rapid restructuring of the global economic order, the forum seeks to explore pathways for regional synergy, institutional trust, and knowledge co-creation amid multilateral coordination, green transformation, and digital advancement. Distinguished experts, government officials, and business leaders from across the Asia-Pacific region will gather to discuss pragmatic strategies for collaboration under current global challenges.

Since its inception in 2023, the forum has been successfully held in Seoul and Suwon, Korea. This year's event, themed Restructuring the Global Economic Order: Challenges and Opportunities for the Asia-Pacific, will center on Korea, China and Japan while engaging the broader Asia-Pacific region. The forum will feature a main forum, academic sessions, and policy-business dialogues, including keynote speeches, roundtable discussions, paper presentations, and awards. It aims to foster cross-border, cross-sector, and cross-cultural exchanges, bridging theoretical research, policy recommendations, and practical applications to empower the building of an Asia-Pacific community with a shared future.

We firmly believe that your participation will add exceptional value to the forum. We eagerly anticipate your presence in Jeju, Korea, to join us in exploring, reflecting on, and shaping the future economic landscape.

Dr. Liu Ziyang, Professor of the Global Business Department at Kyonggi University
Executive Chairman of the Forum Organizing Committee
